BEAU’S STORY

In January of 2019, an orphaned cougar cub was found in Cle Elum, Washington. Officer Rich Beausoleil of the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife reached out to The Wildcat Sanctuary in Minnesota in hopes of finding this young cougar a home. They didn’t have room for him, so they reached out to Carolina Tiger Rescue and we were happy to offer him a lifelong home. He had a long journey ahead of him.

The first step in his journey was a quick drive from his home town to Seattle, Washington. From there he caught a flight to Minneapolis, Minnesota where he was greeted by staff and volunteers from the Wildcat Sanctuary. They loaded him into their van and drove him to Indianapolis, Indiana where a team from Carolina Tiger Rescue was waiting. Out them brought him the rest of the way home to Pittsboro, North Carolina where he has grown into a very handsome and playful young adult cougar.
Mark on the map the different cities that Beau traveled through to make it to his final home.
